WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 21.

ANOTHER LONDON SCANDAL. -The Pall Mall Gazette publishes the full story of the scandal accusing Col. Hughes-Hallett of improper intimacy with his stepdaughter. Hallett will not resign his seat in parliament. Col. Hughes-Hallett replies as follows: "The statements of the Pall Mall Gazette are grossly untrue. I have never had any liaison with any stepdaughter of mine. I repudiate the charge. The Pall Mall Gazette has outraged the name of a young lady, not my stepdaughter, who is no relative or connection of mine, and to whom I have never stood in 'loco parentes. Regarding the money part of the question, Miss Selwyn some time ago asked me to try to get her better interest on £5,000 than she was then getting. She covenanted by a deed in my possession to lend the money for five years. Some weeks ago her solicitors suddenly called this money in. Within twenty-four hours the principal, with interest, was handed to my solicitor for transference to her solicitor." Col. Hughes-Hallett does not explain that the mother of Miss Selwyn was the first Lady Selwyn, whereas the late wife of Col. Hughes Halyoung lady, not my stepdaughter, who is no whereas the late wife of Col. Hughes Hallett was the second Lady Selwyn, who became a widow five months after marrying Justice Selwyn. The Pall Mall Gazette assails Col. Hughes-Hallett under the supposition that he seduced his stepdaughter, accusing him of an unnatural intrigue, for a parallel to which one must go back to Latin mythology. The Gazette demands that the Colonel be dismissed from the unny, and declares that no English gentieman could sit on the same bench with him, and the minis ters must force him to vacate his seat in the House of Commons. The Gazette as-serts that the Colonel has seen W. Smith, the government leader in the House of Com mons, and the conservative whips, and that an intrigue is afoot to whitewash him. The Colonel himself says that he has consulted one of the whips, but not Mr. Smith.

"What is Woman's Worth"! asked a fair damsel of a crusty old bachelor. He did not know, so she said: "W. O. man" (double you, O man). But a woman feels worth little if disease has invaded her sys tem and is daily sapping her strength. For all female weaknesses, Dr. R. V. Pierce's
